THE STEWART CASE AGAIN.

AN IMPOSING ARRAY OF BIG FIGURES.

CONTINUING THE CROSS-EXAMINATION OF THE

EXPERT ACCOUNTANT MERCER. That big aggregation of legal talent which is col-lected on both sides of the Stewart will case was gathered in the Surrogate's Court yesterday for the first time since the election. Elihu Root conducted the cross-examination for the proponents of Expert Accountant Mercer, continuing om the point where he had left off a week ago. Permanent investments to the amount of $1,400,000 in construction and furnishing of hotels and other properties had been summarized by Mr. Root as not being chargeable to expenditure, but to capital investment, and, therefore, should not have been included in the amount which the contestants claim has been expended by Judge Hilton. Mr. Mercer, in his answer to question put by Mr. Root, said he had gone more into the details of that calculation and had found that the amount to be included more properly in capital expenditure would be but $1,286,495 95.

I accept those figures," remarked Mr. Root. "Now, in addition, Mr. Mercer, I find that, in the proceedings of Bailey to set aside the probate of Mr. Stewart's will a sum of money was expended by Judge Hilton for lawyers' fees. Do you think that should included in the claim against Judge Hilton ?"

"I am not an expert on such things," was the "I think you lawyers can answer that." "Mr. Root was on the other side that time," interjected Mr. Cleveland, and the lawyers smiled

Mr. Mercer found that a total of $174,193 had been paid to Alexander & Green, Henry E. Davis, Henry H. Anderson, William M. Evarts, Henry L. Clinton, William A. Beach and others in the case Adding that amount to the $1,268,495 95 made the capital charges $1,442,688 95.

"So, instead of a deficiency of $11,205, there would be an excess of $1,431,483 !" asked Mr. Root.

Under that assumption, yes." "Now let us look at this thing more closely," remarked Mr. Root. "You stated last Monday that $2,789,160 50 of Mrs. Stewart's estate had been absorbed. Please put down these figures."

The following table was then made up:

I am sorry if Mr. Cleveland thinks of me as represented by Mr. Rucker, and all I can say is that I cannot help it if he had permitted himself to me misled on the subject."

"Well, I'll just tell you that they brought much more than they had cost. That seems to have been an investment. However, I'll mark your objection. Now let us continue. Please take this down."

Another table was prepared as follows: Cash donations by Mrs. Stewart to her relatives

Board paid for her relatives
Donations to charitable institutions
Excess as above $1,781,346 41 "Now then," continued Mr. Root, "the accounts show that at the time of her death Judge Hilton had advanced Mrs. Stewart $460,160 11 besides the mortgage of $700,000. That makes $1,163,160 11. So the increase of the estate and the money given away by Mrs. Stewart exceed the amount given her by Henry Bilton to the amount of $618,186 30." Root now went to work to show that Judge Hitton had paid Mrs. Stewart more for the real estate he had bought from her than it was actually worth. He caused the witness to produce all necessary figures and perform all necessary computations. The purchase price of the Stewart Luilding was $2,100,000 This, less the alterations Mrs. Stewart paid for, netted 81,481,652 90. The assessed value of the building in 1883 was 8950,000, and, assuming that the assessed value is two-thirds of the market value, the latter would have been $1,425,000. Therefore, Mr. Root educted, Mr. Hilton had paid $56,652 90 more than the building was worth. In addition, however, the assessed value included a leasehold lot, and Judge Hilton therefore paid for the fee while he only bought the leasehold. Therefore, he really paid, it was alleged, $140,000 more than the value of the building.

The Globe Theatre was bought by Mr. Hilton for $465,000. The assessed valuation was $271,000. the market value, computed as before, $406,500. Therefore, Judge Hilton paid $58,000 more than that building was worth. In the same way it was shown that he had robbed himself of $2,750 in the purchase of the Thirty-fourth-st. stable

The ingenious method of determining market value from the assessed value was applied to all the real estate in New-York owned by Mrs. Stewart at the time of her death, exclusive of the properties she pre-of her death, exclusive of the properties she pre-sented to Charles P. Clinch, Miss Butler, the Misses sented to Charles P. Clinch, Miss Butler, the Misses minister has with much difficulty been retained there. Clinch, A. Lawrence Smith, and Mrs. Osborne, the object of Mr. Root being evidently to account for a portion of the estate by showing what Mrs. Stewart's possessions were worth when she died. The results were Total to Mrs. Stewart's heirs . . . $12,107884 66 Mr. Root left this result and went back to the direct testimony as to rents received from different pieces of property. He showed the witness a receipt-book showing that the annual ground-rent of about $54,000 which the proponents had endeavored to show was for the Tenth-st. store alone, in fact included several other lots. The witness thereupon acknowledged that the table of rents received, as made by him, was comnuted on an erronerus basis. "In your testimony," said Mr. Root, "you mentioned that the rents suddenly stopped for a number of buildings. Did you trouble yourself to ascertain whether the estate still occupied those premises !" " I did nof."

"The rents went down considerably during 1873. 1879 and 1880, did they not?"

"They did." "You did not hear of a general financial depression in this country at that time?"

"I did not." "Where were you those years?"

"In Ceylon."

" And the spice-laden breezes of Ceylon did not waft you the news of a commercial depression in New-York ?" " No. sir."

Mr. Root elicited from the witness that the average rental paid for the Chambers-st. store to Mrs. Stewart was about $115,500 per annum; that for the Tenth-st. store $169,812. The rent-rate for the latter place showed a gradual increase as the lease required.

The purpose of examining counsel in his ensuing questions was to show that the money spent by Mrs. Stewart for the Cathedral, Sea House and school, the amount expended by her for presents of money and real estate to her relatives, and her charitable bequests, combined to withdraw, immediately after her husband's death, large sums of money every year from the income-producing investment. Therefore, a from the income-producing investment. Therefore, a decrease of her income would be a natural consequence. Finally he caused the witness to acknowledge that Mrs. Stewart had not been charged with any bricks in the Garden City construction account; that the estate had maintained a brickyard there, and that the maintenance of that yard would further increase Mrs. Stewart's Garden City account.

The witness was getting tired and sed in the face by this time, and did not like to answer questions. By dint of many efforts, however, Mr. Root caused Mr. Mercer to state that the "C. M. S." books showed that Mrs. Stewart had no interest in the business; that no debit or credit connected with the business appeared on those books, and that she had to pay for everything she bought at the store. Examining counsel then placed in evidence an acknowledgment, signed by Mrs. Stewart, that the "C. M. S." books contained the record of all transactions, without exception, between her and Mr. Hilton. Then Mr. Root went at the witness hawmer and tongs.

"Do you find in these books any indication that the Hilton legacy of 21,000,000 was ever charged against Mrs. Stewart;"

"No, sir."

"No, sir."
Do you find that $1,000,000 consideration for the siness was ever credited Mrs. Stewart?"
"No, sir." "Is there any evidence that that million dollars was id, except, simply, Judge Hilton's receipt in the returning to his secretary, Arthur Borry, sand.

"There is not."
"If there had been, it would have left Judge Hilton iteeply in debt te Mrs. Stewart, would it not?"
"It would have done so."
"Are there any charges by Judge Hilton for aer-tices or commissions?"

"No, sir."

"Yes, sir" examination was begun by Mr. Cleveland, the witness testifying that there was no indication on the firm's special ledger or journal to show that Mrs. Stowari had ever seen those books, or that she had ever known that on April 10, 1876, her husband had been there credited with $12,217,962 97.

Mr. Cleveland took up the estimate from assessed value of the market value of Mrs. Stewart's New-York real estate at the time of her death. He proved by the witness that in that assessment leaseholds to the amount of $1,050,000 were included as if the property were in fec. That took $1,575,000 off the

The report of J. Aifred Davenport, the referee ap-pointed to assertain what amount was due from damages in the building of a steamship, and that something over one hundred have been launched from his yard. Colonel John R. Fellows to the heirs of the Gescheldt estate, was confirmed by Justice Barrett, of the Supreme Court, yesterday. In accordance with the lecision Colonel Fellows must pay to the heirs $7,125 with interest from 1872 at 7 per cent, which more than doubles the original amount. In the friendly suit brought by Anthony L. Gescheldt against Charles A. Gescheldt and others for the partition of real estate, Colonel Fellows was appointed referee in 1872. In Mr. Davenport's report the amount for which Colonel Fellows is accountable is fixed at the amount named. Justice Barrett in confirming the report says that Colonel Fellows must also pay the referee's fees and costs, amounting to $1.01s, and that the sum found to be due by Colonel Fellows must be deposited as Mr. Davenport directs. The parties to the suit may apply for the amounts due to them severally.

THEY WILL PATRONIZE AN AMERICAN LINE.

The Navy Department has modified the orders relative to the four naval officers who are detailed to determine longitudes in Mexico and Central America o that instead of sailing in the Spanish steamer Villaverde on Wednesday for Vera Cruz, they are ordered to take passage on the American steamer City of Washington, which sails on Saturday. This fact seems significant coming so soon after The Tribune called attention to the peculiar patronage given to a foreign light.

JERSEY CATTLE SOLD AT AUCTION. Buyers of family cows had it all their own way at the Jersey cattle sale at the American Horse Exchange yesterday, most of those offered going little if any higher than common stock prices. About a dozen of the best cows sold from $100 to $310, the latter for a magnificent daughter of Carlo that a few years ago would have sold for $1,000. The sale will be continued to-day.

SHOT WITH HIS OWN REVOLVER William Turner, a clerk, of Third-ave, and One-hun-dred and-fifteenth-st., has kept a loaded revolver in the drawer of his desk, at No. 45 William-st. When he pulled open the drawer yesterday the weapon was discharged and the builet lodged in his abdomen, in-flicting a dangerous wound. He was removed to the Chambers Street Hospital.

PACKENHAM MUST BE HANGED.

Almost single-handed, it fought CONVICTED OF MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREEthe good fight in New-York, and it is now delightful TO BE EXECUTED ON JANUARY 4.

The sentence of death was passed upon Patrick Pack enham yesterday by Recorder Smyth in the Court of General Sessions. Packenham was convicted on Friday of murder in the first degree, in killing his wife Margaret, at their home, No. 212 West Twenty-seventh st., on April 2. He had just returned from Blackbeating his wife. He became intoxicated, and after walking up and down the halls cursing and assaulting the neighbors, he attempted to assault his wife. He soon after entered his wife's room, and pulling her head forward, cut the back of her neck so deeply that er head was almost severed from the body. Recorder in passing sentence said that he could not accept the plea which the prisoner's counsel had urged him to accept, because the defence of insanity had no been proven. He directed that Packenham be hanged n January 4.

The prisoner did not move while the sentence was being pronounced. His large speciacles concealed his ves, and his other features showed no sign that he was moved by the solemn words of the Recorder. Ho is nearly sixty years old, but is strong and vigorous in appearance. His conviction of marder in the first legree is the second one of that kind under the administration of District Attorney Fellows.

THE CITY TO HAVE FIVE PER CENT.

THE AGREEMENT BETWEEN A RAPID TRANSIT LINE AND AN AMUSEMENT COMPANY DOES NOT APPLY TO THE CITY.

The sait brought by the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company, as assignee of the Staten Island Railroad Company's ferry lease, against the city, for a contruction of the lease, was decided by Justice Ingraham in the Supreme Court yesterday. By the terms of this instrument, the lessee was to pay the city 5 per cent of the gross receipts for carrying pass on the ferryboats, besides $5,000 for the first five years, and $10,000 for the following five years. The lease was for ten years from May 1, 1883. Since the new company took the lease, and St. George was made the only landing on Staten Island, the company has charged 10 cents for travel on the boats and any distance on the connecting railroad. By the terms of popular heart than this gifted and favorite son of New. pany, 2 cents of the 10 cents paid by each passenger going to the company's grounds goes to the amuse ment company. The city claimed 5 per cent on every 10 cents in spite of these arrangements. The Judge holds that as there was no agreement in the lease that the fare should not be lowered, the 5 per cent should be computed on 5 cents for each passenger who takes the connecting railway, but that 5 per cent of the entire 10 cents must be paid to the city for each passenger visiting the amusement grounds.

QUINN AND HIS FOES AT LAW.

There is no end of litigation in progress and in spect growing out of the troubles between the New-York Protective Association and District Asmbly No. 49 of the Knights of Labor. After the affair at Pythagoras Hall, when Master Workman Quinn and his adherents were thrown out of the offices of the assembly, Quinn obtained an injunction from the Superior Court restraining Michael Breslin, treasurer, and others from interfering with him there. Quinn and his followers presented themselves at the Then Breslin and his followers were served with an order to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt in disobeying the order. On this Justice Freedman, in the Superior Court, yesterday, after hearing argument, decided that und Republican doctrine and principles was very fective.

A motion to have the temporary injunction granted by Justice Dugre continued pending the suit was also by Justice Dugre continued pending the suit was also argued before Justice Freedman, and on this the decision was reserved. JUDGE TERRY'S APPLICATION DENIED. Washington, Nov. 12,-The Supreme Court of the Inited States to-day denied the application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of David S. Terry, of California, who was convicted of contempt of court for a violent scene, in which he and his wife both attacked the officers of the court.

The application for the writ was made on the ground that Terry, at the time of his sentence, was not in the court-room and did not have notice of the intention to bring him to trial. Justice Harlan, who ren dered the opinion, says that the offence was committed in full view of the court and that the punishment followed practically without any intermission, and that the case is not one in which this court should Justice Field took no part in the case.

A TRIFLING DISPUTE OVER A BOAT RESULTS IN A FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY. Trenton, N. J., Nov. 12 (Special),-The employes of the Trenton China Company were thrown into a state of excitement at 7:30 o'clock this morning by the attempt of Austin Myatt, one of their number, to murder James E. Cavanaugh, who is also an employe there. Myatt shot Cavanaugh three times, and the wounds are thought to be fatal. Both Myatt and Cavanaugh are married men and have always been regarded as quiet and peaceable. were formerly members of a boat club named after Myait. The organization disbanded, and one of the boats was disposed of in a raffle. A brother of Cavanaugh bought the boat of the winner, and Myait charged them with collusion and fraud. happened two years ago, and since then the men have had a number of quarrels. On Saturday night Myatt, it is charged, attempted to stab Cavanaugh, who wrested a large knife from him. This morning, when the men began work at the pottery, Cavanaugh was informed that Myatt was making derisive remarks about his election bets. Cavanaugh went to Myatt's work bench, and Myatt, after a few words, whipped out a long navy revolver and fired. Cavanaugh fell, wounded in three places. One of the balls penetrated a lung. Myatt left the pottery, but was quickly brought back by the foreman, who handed him over to an officer.

THE ANDOVER CASE.

Boston, Nov. 12.-The Supreme Court has ordered that Professor Egbert Smyth, the appellant in the case of "Smyth against the Board of Visitors of the Theo-logical Institution of Phillips Academy, Andover," shall file additional specifications. There will be no decision by the court until after the preliminary hearing upon the bill in equity, which will take place on December 3.

EUMORED SALE OF THE CHESTER OIL COMPANY. Philadelphia, Nov. 12 (Special).—Oil circles in this city were agitated to-day over a dispatch from Pittsburg which stated that a report was current there that the Globe Refining Company had purchased or was negotiating for the acquisition of the plant of the Chester Oil Company, near this city. The officials of the Chester Oil Company were out of town this morning, but the managers of the Globe Oil Company in this city, and William L. Elkins, who is largely inter-ested i nthe latter company, while not denying the truth of the rumor, stated that the story was manu-factured out of whole cloth.

MEETING OF THE BRIDGE TRUSTEES. Fourteen Bridge Trustees attended the meeting for November yesterday and transacted business for the first time since June. Superintendent Martin reported that more cars were needed, as the twelve trains in operation in the busy hours took forty-eight of the fifty-four cars, and two or three were in the shops most of the time, leaving a narrow margin for emergencies. The purchase six new cars, similar to those new in use, at $4,000 The purchase of property belonging to Dr. Andrew Otterson, at Washington and Nassau sts., for $35,000, to be used for Bridge offices, was voted. President Howell said it would cost about $5,000 to fit up the offices, and then they could be used for a number of the offices, and then they could be used for a number of the could years. The present offices are damp and unhealthful The monthly reports show receipts of $86,311.96 from traffic in October and expenditures of $57,656 82. The number of passengers was 3,116,198.
